Overview

David Brown is the Co-chair of Hopkins & Carley's Real Estate Practice. He primarily represents tenants in procuring leases and construction contracts for all types of commercial spaces including offices, research and development, industrial, and retail.

With a practical business sense, David's practice focuses on:

- Commercial leasing
- Purchase and sale
- Construction
- Finance
- Telecommunications

Before coming to Hopkins & Carley, David was counsel for two national wireless communication carriers. His exposure in the communication industry provides a breadth of experience in both commercial leases and cutting edge technologies.
